“ Dear family and loved ones of Brent, I am so very very sorry for your loss. I worked with Brent in Chicago in 2011 and 2012. We both worked for the United African Organisation, which looked out for the needs of African immigrants and refugees in the US. When I moved home to South Africa, we stayed in touch over social media. I told Brent a few months ago how incredibly proud I am of his journey as a leader, educator, scholar and organiser. He was such a kind and sweet soul. I loved hanging out with him around Hyde Park and Kenwood, and doing our rounds with African immigrants and refugees all over the city of Chicago. He gave so much to us all, to his students and to struggles for a more just world. He had so much still to give. Rest in power, dear old friend. You will be so, so missed.

Family, I went to school with Brent at ASU. Brett was a person that was full of humor and loved to make others laugh. He will truly be missed.
