“ When I was a little boy, i remember getting my hair cut by "Uncle Clinton" as I affectionaltely called him (he is actually my second Cousin). He treated me and my brother like we were his sons ... always encouraging and full of advice on how to be a 'man'. As an adult, I frequently stayed with him when visiting from out of town. (His home was my home .. as it were) and he was always warm and welcoming. We would talk into the wee hours of the morning, about family, and how it was 'in the old days' when he was child.

He was like a father to me. He treated me like I was his own. .. I will never forget his 'strong' voice and "gentle" demeanor, that was always complemented by what you knew was his never-ending love, and joy of being around family.

I will miss him dearly.
