MEMORIES: The Gardener

I think one of the most important things in Dorothy's life was gardening, and she took great pride in her flowers; the front of her house, the side of her house, her back yard were always full of flowers... Gardeners are special people. It takes patience and perseverance and a love for living things to grow a garden or a beautiful flower. Gardening is tedious and hard work, but there is something that gardeners know and experience that others sometimes do not. There is a beauty and a satisfaction in seeing the result of their labor grow and come to fruition. There is a peacefulness that can come over us as we care for and nurture the flowers and plants in a garden. In nurturing living things and helping to bring beauty and peace to the world, gardeners make a difference in the world and make their lives and the lives of those who see the gardens richer and fuller. I think that for Dorothy working in the garden was a way to be the caring and nurturing person that she was.
