“ Forever in our hearts, fondly called sister, ANTY sister, cursed be the hand that shed your blood. May God not rest until you are avenged. May the avenger for blood locate your killers. Whatever could not keep you where every other person was alive. also kill the others where you died. You should have been alive today but for the hand of man. May they taste the death that they prepared for you. I miss you. May God plead your cause with them that strove with you and fight against them that fought against you.
